Plate-Oh!

A new philosophy for paper plates

Background:

Paper plates are very wasteful and are often thrown away while the plate is still in a good condition;

As they are constructed of many layers of composite paper in order to give enough thickness and rigidity for any meal. However, only the top layer is really spoiled by the food, yet once used, the plate is entirely tossed away, with so much good and unuesd material gone to waste.

Plastic plates will eventually end up in landfills.

Biodegradeable plates are a good alternative and can be washed and reused, however, the use of soap and water is also wasteful and harmful to the environment.

The question is;

How can we minimize dishes after picnics, office parties, or while camping, yet feel good about contributing to the environment and minimizing waste in landfills?!

Plate-Oh is a solution that has literally stripped down paper plates and the way we use them.
